Amnesty Program
Assistance with paying past-due child support

The Amnesty Program can help you if you have child support arrears.

The West Virginia Legislature created the Amnesty Program to assist obligors who owe a large child support debt.

If both the obligor and the obligee agree to the requirements of the Amnesty Program, all or a portion of accumulated child support interest may be forgiven.

In exchange for the forgiveness of child support interest, the obligor agrees to pay off all remaining child support arrears within 5 years.

NOTE:

Current and future child support obligations will remain the same.

- AND -

The Amnesty Program only pertains to the INTEREST owed on past-due child support.

Getting Started

1. The obligor and obligee must voluntarily agree to the amount of waived interest.
2. Contact your local BCSE office to schedule a meeting. A case worker can provide an updated arrears calculation and a sample agreement.
3. You must draft a payment plan that includes the amount of interest waived and the payment schedule for the remaining balance.
4. Petition the Court. If the Court approves the payment plan, an order is entered to conditionally suspend interest. If all payments are received, the Court will enter another order that permanently removes the waived interest.
